

It's not just about the weather, it's about the way you feel. The weather is a mirror, reflecting the way you feel. When you're happy, the weather is perfect. When you're sad, the weather is terrible. When you're angry, the weather is stormy. When you're scared, the weather is dark. When you're lonely, the weather is cold. When you're loved, the weather is warm. When you're free, the weather is bright. When you're lost, the weather is confusing. When you're found, the weather is clear. When you're whole, the weather is perfect.
